

September Newsletter

If you are receiving this message, it means that either I have done work for you in the past, I am doing work for you now, or you have expressed interest regarding me doing work for you in the future. If you would prefer to not receive further emails from me, please let me know about it.

Being that it is now September, I will be sending out invoices to any of you for whom I have done work in August, or for those who have not yet paid for July. Please remit your payment when you have a chance.

August has been a busy month for me, as I continued my Photoshop classes (wow, am I learning some cool stuff...), along with the additional clients I have been receiving (search engine, smearch engine, ya gotta love that word of mouth stuff... ;o} ). I am now moving on to the Intermediate and Advanced classes in September. I have found an excellent Continuing Education Center nearby. Seating is first come, first served, but it's free and you can't beat that. Hopefully down the line I can take some Flash classes too. I have a little knowledge in Flash and can kinda "get by", but I would like to become more proficient.

Labor Day Coming Up - Yes, this is the time of year when we recognize the "working class". I would like to use it also as an opportunity to thank those of you who allow me the opportunity to be of service to you.

V-A---C-A---T-I-O-N - I will be taking some time off in the beginning of October. I am heading up North to visit the Seattle area (for the first time - really looking forward to it...) over the last weekend in September and first few days in October. I will then be heading back East (not looking forward to it as much - but it should still be fun...) from the 12th to the 17th of October. During these times I will have limited access to email and will not be of much assistance. Hopefully no emergencies will arise. If needs be, I will have my cell phone and can be contacted in that manner.

Coming Soon - If you have been paying attention, you would know that I've been sending these messages out for a while now. And, as I acquire new clients (thank you, thank you...), some are only now starting to get newsletters. So I am working on setting up an archive, so people can go back and view previous messages. I will probably have it ready next time. Stay tuned...

Context Sensitivity Training - Have you right-clicked lately? Using the right-click button on your mouse (command-click on a MAC, I believe), causes what is called a "context-sensitive" menu to appear. What that means is that the menu will contain different information depending on the context where you have used it. You can do it nearly everywhere and they usually contain a wealth of information and/or features and options you can avail yourself of. If you are ever in a situation where you might need some assistance, try right-clicking and see what "pops up"!

Thank you all for your business (and potential business...)
